Cathedral Area Site Sure for Courthouse

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI)—White English girls in a Nottingham textile factory have refused to work with negro girls, and have forced management to put the colored girls in a separate department.

Cypriots Murder 'Traitor'

NICOSIA (AP)—Two masked EOKA gunmen stalked into a coffeshop Thursday and in a wild shooting episode killed one Greek Cypriot and wounded four other men.

'President Not Master In Own House'—Adlai

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson formally launched his campaign for presidency "seems to sail downwind" no Thursday night, hitting directly at President Eisenhower with a contention that "the president is not master in his own house."

There is a possibility that the courthouse may be one of a group of new buildings in the same extended location.

The suggestion is being considered in high level planning circles that a centre to include the courthouse, a new city hall or Victoria-Saanich hall and possibly an art gallery, should be established on grounds extending from Blanshard to Quadra and from Burdett to Courtney.

Broughton and Courtney would be closed off, although the Royal Theatre presumably would be left in place, and stores would continue to be located along Fort.

Works Minister W. N. Chant promised Wednesday that construction of the new courthouse would begin within a year.

Cost is estimated at about $2,000,000.

Although final decision as to the actual site must be made by cabinet, top government officials favor the Blanshard location over two other suggested sites.

It was originally proposed that the courthouse might be built either on the civil service parking lot at Government and Belleville or behind the present courthouse at Langley and Bastion.

The Colonist was told yesterday, however, that the government thought the parking lot site would be more suitable.

able for a new provincial museum and that old warehouses behind the post office could detract from the new building's appearance.

Ironically, this was the site which was bought for a courthouse promised Victoria by the John Hart Liberal administration in the 1937 provincial election.

Present plans call for landscaped gardens at the rear of the proposed building. These gardens would be immediately in front of the cathedral and close to Pioneer Square.

However, it was also learned that the larger civic centre suggestion is being considered as a result of the request of a special inter-municipal committee that the Capital Region Planning Board name possible sites for a joint Victoria-Saanich municipal hall.

The special committee of Victoria and Saanich council members is studying the possibility of the two municipalities building and occupying a single hall.

Actual plans for the new courthouse will not be drawn up by works department architects until a definite site has been chosen.

A recommendation as to the site will probably be made to the Capital Improvement District Commission by Works Minister Chant. The commission in turn will then make a recommendation to cabinet who will have the final say.

The building planned will be a modern structure combining dignity and grandeur, Works Minister Chant is believed to favor an observation tower at the top of the building.

From this lookout, tourists and visitors could look over the entire Victoria downtown area and obtain a view of the city which cannot be had at present.

The present courthouse, which has outlived its usefulness, was built in 1889 and, as well as court facilities, houses the overcrowded land registry office.

Confidence Vote Won

Eden's Pledge to Go to UN 'If Possible' Reunites Britain

Everything Depends On Egypt Reaction

LONDON (CP)—History was made Thursday night in a mere five minutes.

In that short time, the British government pledged it will take the Suez Canal dispute to the United Nations—if Egypt refuses to "co-operate."

In that brief space, apparently, the differences which had divided Britain's main political parties—and probably the nation as well—narrowed to a vanishing point. To a considerable extent, the threat of war receded.

The dramatic break came in the closing minutes of an emergency two-day House of Commons debate on the troubled situation in the Suez Canal zone. Repeatedly, Opposition leader Hugh Gaitskell sought an assurance from Prime Minister Eden that Britain will not "shoot her way through the Suez Canal."

Gaitskell was quoting a statement made in Washington on Thursday by State Secretary Dulles.

Eden hesitated, declined to use the exact words, but gave a reply that, for most of his audience, had the same implications.

He said: "We are in complete agreement with the United States government on what to do. We propose to ask for Egyptian co-operation. If they are in default we will take them to the Security Council."

Eden added one qualifying phrase: "If circumstances allowed—that is, except in an emergency."

He meant that if Egypt breaks the 1888 convention governing free access to the canal, the matter will be taken to the United Nations.

There was bedlam at the words. In the confusion it was difficult to be sure, but it seemed that the cheers came mainly from the Labor benches.

Many observers interpreted the Security Council reference as a victory for Gaitskell and the Labor opposition, who have made the question of United Nations action one of the chief issues in the tense debate.

Time and again the opposition had pleaded for a pledge that resort to force would be taken only through the world organization. The government refused. It said it already was acting under article 33 of the UN charter, which calls on nations to seek solutions to disputes by negotiation, inquiry, mediation and conciliation.

Until Eden's pledge on the Security Council, the government had talked of "other means" of settling the dispute, and British newspapers published statements—presumably inspired by government—that force would be used if no satisfactory settlement were reached.

It was in this atmosphere—one that sent a chill through some of the chancelleries of the world—that the two-day debate convened. Several Commonwealth countries, including India and Australia, expressed reservations about the implications of British policy, and it was believed that Canada largely shared these misgivings.

In Paris earlier Thursday night, External Affairs Minister Pearson declined to comment on the debate. Canada has always supported a United Nations solution.

After Eden promised that, barring emergency, the United Nations would be consulted before force was employed against Egypt, a confidence vote was taken.

A move by the opposition Labor party to censure the government was defeated by 321 votes to 251. A second vote, expressing confidence in the government was carried 319 to 248.

After the vote, James Griffiths, deputy leader of the Labor party, said the promise "extracted... from the prime minister has served and saved this nation."

Before Eden's closing speech in the House, Gaitskell said: "Going to war with Egypt would probably lead to the fall of Col. Nasser but it could not possibly be regarded as solving the problem of the Middle East as a whole."

City Man Buys B.C. Airlines

B.C. Airlines Ltd., with headquarters here, has been purchased by F. Maurice McGregor, a former Victorian, and a veteran of the Canadian aviation industry, and Paul Tak, an associate formerly in business in the Netherlands. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The biggest "home owned" B.C. aviation enterprise, established 12 years ago by William B. Sylvester of Victoria, had only recently announced a $250,000 expansion of its facilities at Sea Island airport. With 30 pilots and a staff of 80, the company was operating 75 radio-equipped installations all over B.C. and a fleet of 25 aircraft.

S. E. Scutrah, executive vice-president of the line here, expects to remain with the owners in an advisory capacity.

Operation of the fleet will be geared to development of B.C.'s resources, said Mr. McGregor. "B.C. Airlines is a charter firm working closely with those interested in the basic resources, logging, mining and fishing."

"We are already planning expansion of equipment and facilities," he continued.

The company has bases at present in Vancouver, Nanaimo, Campbell River, Port Hardy, Alert Bay and Alford Bay in the Queen Charlotte Islands, as well as the headquarters depot here.

But it is expected headquarters will be moved to Vancouver, where Mr. McGregor, son of long-time insurance executive Fred McGregor and Mrs. McGregor, 1456 Beach, now makes his home after years with the CPA, TCA, Canadian Airways and the Pakistan government lines.

Candidates Win Applause, Boos At Big City Rally

Social Credit got most of the jeers and its opponents the cheers as the 13 Victoria candidates battled before a noisy audience of 1,100 persons at Central Junior High School last night.

Without exception, the three anti-Social Credit speakers were heckled strenuously and the others were applauded loudly as each candidate talked for six minutes under the watchful eye of chairman Eric Charman of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, most of the questions were critical of government action in such fields as voters' registration, the property tax rebate and especially the Sommers-Sturdy case.

Longest boom came as Works Minister W. N. Chant ended his talk: loudest cheers when George Gregory said a Liberal government will "immediately publish the Sommers-Sturdy RCMP report to the end that the innocent may be cleared of suspicion and the guilty punished."

Main points of the speakers, in order of appearance:

Mrs. Lydia Arsenos, SC: "The progress in B.C. under Social Credit is ten times and even more than we had hoped for. You will have heard our bookkeeping is critical, fantastic, unorthodox—this is criticizing the civil servants," which brought shouts of "No, no."

Mrs. Myrtle Bergen, LPP: Policy of "giving away" timber to U.S. firms must be stopped; develop resources in B.C., especially Victoria by establishing secondary industries.

She compared Premier Bennett to a Kelowna gopher—"very cute, sharp, audacious, and I don't mean to offend."

George Gregory, Liberal: I didn't wage a campaign to stamp out TB in chicken livers; I didn't even accuse the medical profession of holding back a cure for cancer. (Laughter). "I promise to continue on page 2."

Equal Pay Oct. 1

OTTAWA (CP)—The Female Employee Equal Pay Act, passed at the last session of Parliament, will come into force Oct. 1, the labor department announced Thursday.

The legislation provides equal pay for women doing the same work as men in industry under federal jurisdiction. About 73,000 women workers, or about one-eighth the 600,000 women engaged in industry, will benefit from the act.

Canada Pipeline Opposed

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Federal Power Commission was urged Thursday by a group of competing pipeline companies to toss out Midwestern Gas Transmission Company's plan to import natural gas from Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., and sell it in the north-central United States.

Four big companies which already serve the area charged Midwestern with preparing to "raid" their markets, suggested Trans-Canada is an uncertain source of gas supply and contended Midwestern has failed, in any event, to prove that it could provide service.

The hearing of the dismissal motions was another legal round in the long commission study of Midwestern's proposal to import 250,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily from the Trans-Canada line at Emerson, Man.

In Victoria Princess Coming Here For Centennial

OTTAWA (CP)—Princess Margaret's first official visit to Canada likely will be a trip to British Columbia but not a cross-country tour.

The 26-year-old sister of the Queen has been invited to participate in B.C.'s 1958 centennial, and a highly-placed informant says she has indicated informally that she wants to come.

However, the trip is not yet official and no announcement may be made for some time. The princess now is preparing to tour East Africa starting Sept. 21.

At London, a Buckingham Palace spokesman, asked to comment on the report, said he had no information.

"As far as we know, there are no major entries in Princess Margaret's engagement book for 1958 at the present time," the spokesman said.

However, the informant here appeared fairly confident that the princess will make the trip, providing there are no last-minute hitches.

He indicated the trip would be strictly regional—limited to B.C., which in 1958 will mark 100 years of progress since it was created a crown colony in 1858.

Members of the Royal Family, he said, have expressed a wish to visit Canada more frequently but are concerned over the length of time required for a national tour each time a trip is planned.

Singers Stay Home

Oldest Choir Losing Battle Against TV

Television is cutting into the ranks of the Arion Club, oldest male-voice choir in Canada.

The choir, which was founded in Victoria 65 years ago, has numbered as many as 60 voices at peak times. Now it is down to 20, and unless it can recruit some more singers, it may be faced with the possibility of disbanding.

Spokesmen of the choir blame television for keeping home young singers who might otherwise have joined. No new talent is coming in to reinforce the veterans.

Tenor and baritone voices that should be echoing through the choir's rehearsal room are being used instead for laughter and cries of applause at the antics of wrestlers and comics on television.

K. C. Symons, librarian of the choir, yesterday urged singers and would-be singers to tear themselves away from the screen and attend Arion Club practice—every Monday night at 8 p.m. above the Pemberton Holmes Ltd. office, Broughton and Government Street. The choir has held its rehearsals there for 30 years.

Arion Club choir has sung most of its concerts for charity, free of charge. An offshoot of the club, the Orpheus Club of Tacoma, which was started by an ex-Arion member, is now 50 years old.

Charles Ulich is president of the club; James P. Fitzwater, vice-president; Harry Dutton, conductor; Mrs. Margaret Wilshurst, assistant conductor and pianist; K. C. Symons, librarian; Lionel K. O'Neill, assistant librarian.

Building Lags

Country's Growth Outstrips Church

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The treasurer of the United Church of Canada said Thursday a new church is needed every two days if the United Church is to keep pace with Canada's growth.

Dr. Victor T. Mooney told the church's general council holding its 17th biennial conference here, that the United Church "must not fail in doing its share to keep Canada Christian."

Boy Loses Two Fingers

SPOKANE (AP)—A home-made bomb that went off too soon mangled the fingers on the right hand of Stephen Dutt, 12, Thursday.

The boy told officers he had made the bomb from an empty seltzer bottle cartridge, the heads of sulphur matches and a fuse. He asked another boy to light it on the way to school and it exploded before it could be thrown, officers said.

The major part of two fingers were removed at a hospital.

During the last 10 years, a new church or hall had been opened on an average of every 4½ days, a survey indicated. However, this program would have to be more than doubled to keep step with expanding communities.

He said congregations do not give enough to the church treasury.

Dr. Mooney also attacked the drinking and smoking habits of Canadians. He said that in the last 10 years they had spent $7,000,000,000 for alcoholic beverages and in the same period gave only $1,300,000,000 to all Canadian churches.

In the same period they spent about $4,000,000,000 on smoking. "Surely we are not going to let these proportions stand. Surely it is possible for Christian Canadians to invest in the work of their churches as much or more than drinking Canadians invest in liquor."

Lives Risked To Find Cat

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Three exhausted men rested at home Wednesday after spending two nights wandering in bushland 100 miles northeast of here. They became lost trying to retrieve a tomcat.

The men, Peter Umbrasko, 34, Edward Malzer, 25, and Bernard Crindo, 25, were clad only in shirts and trousers when found. They said they lost their way when their tomcat set off alone into the bush and they went after it. Their clothes were ripped to shreds.

Prolific Inventor

'Love Meter' Man Dies

LONDON (Reuters)—Prof. Archibald Montgomery Low, 68, one of Britain's most prolific inventors whose ideas ranged from guided missiles to a whimsical "love meter," died Thursday. Low suffered for years from a chronic lung ailment.

Although he was probably best known as the inventor side during the First World War.

"In May, 1914," he said later,

"I demonstrated the principle of television and its use for position-finding. Then I was asked by the government whether the apparatus could be adapted to control the rudder and elevators of an aircraft. This led to the guided missile."

"Love," he once said, "is a question of two people having the same 'emanation characteristics' for everybody produces rays similar to wireless beam rays."

As a result he came up with a love meter almost 20 years ago. "Lovers of the future," he explained, "will clasp hands and walk in the moonlight as they do now, but they will have little tell-tale meters in their pockets which will register their feelings towards each other."

Courthouse Outgrown

ELECTION promises and their rebuttals aside, the case for a better Victoria courthouse rests on some sober-paced and long-known facts. While we would not like to say that it is the first need of the community or even the chief one, the day has certainly come when our courthouse facilities are totally inadequate. This is not a matter of professional pride on the part of the legal officials—although they are surely entitled to a proper setting for the discharge of one of the highest functions under the Crown—but the down-to-earth necessity of making sure that irreplaceable records will not continue to be subjected to the direct hazard of destruction by fire or loss through any means.

To mention one item, every conveyancer in the city knows that the land registry office can no longer house the property titles that are deposited with it daily for safe keeping and perpetual record. A considerable proportion of these and similarly important documents now have to be stored in other premises outside the building where they must be sent for and returned to prove of any service to the public whatever. That is the last form of treatment which should be accorded to documents of lasting record, and yet it has yearly become an ever more visible hazard in Victoria.

Besides being the legal repository for titles, wills and other documents of vital importance, the courthouse, of course, has all of its other functions with relation to the laws of the land. Serious issues of life and death, disposal of estates, settlement of civil grievances, the day-by-day flow of routine but completely essential legal traffic in court chambers and all of the services represented by the major and minor courts of the province come to sharp focus in the same structure. For more than 30 years the Victoria courthouse has been out of date. For 20 years it has been a place where even the most patient resident has hesitated to introduce a visitor. For the last decade, the clutter in the land registry office has been a direct and appalling loss hazard.

Popularly, it is probably true that Victorians if asked about their choice in new public buildings might plumb for a provincial museum, an auditorium, a city hall and a courthouse in perhaps that order. Regardless of whatever other construction may be contemplated, however, the present courthouse has come to the end of its practical usefulness. The civil needs of British Columbia require its replacement by something a good deal more serviceable and safe.

Defeatist Attitude

VICTORIA City's smoke inspector has made, and the union board of health apparently has accepted, a statement that the amount and kind of smoke generated by industrial plants here is not deleterious to public health. We are not in a position to dispute that blanket assertion, but we believe that it merits more intensive study.

Mr. Walker, the inspector, makes the point that wood ash (probably the largest ingredient of the smoke cloud hanging over the leeward end of the city) is as harmless as burnt toast. That may be correct as far as ingestion and the abdominal organs are concerned; but can irritation of the eyes, lungs, sinuses and respiratory passages be written off as inconsequential? It has been recorded by some of the highest authorities that smoke pollution is a major cause of respiratory diseases in cities. Possibly they refer to different kinds of smoke, but one would like positive assurance from those competent to give it that the smoke over Victoria cannot harm lung tissues.

As for the nuisance element, the inspector concedes that those who complain about cinder ash deposits have a case. They have indeed—and a strong one. To quote a single example: a commercial organization downwind of the industrial area estimates its annual loss in stock spoiled by emanations from chimneys at $12,000. If all businesses affected by the smoke nuisance could total their losses, and if to that were added all the individual laundry and cleaning bills, damage to painted surfaces, and even light bills to make up for the loss of sunlight, the aggregate would be impressive enough to cause deep concern over the cost of smoke pollution to the community at large.

The city's smoke abatement by-law may be, as the inspector says, difficult to enforce by way of prosecutions; but there never has been a prosecution in Victoria yet, so how can he be sure? Slow progress in the program of abatement appears to be due more than anything else to a defeatist attitude on the part of the city council and almost everybody else. It may be hard to eliminate smoke, but that does not mean that it is impossible. It may also be costly to those whose operations generate smoke, but what of the bill of damage to the public as a whole?

Sudden Tragedy

THE sympathy of this and all Island communities will be extended to the relatives of the two young Victoria men who lost their lives in the sudden fall of rock in road-building operations on the Malahat on Wednesday. The accident took place when work crews following recent new construction were clearing overhanging slopes with a view to preventing the danger of just such slides. The department of public works has now done the right thing in suspending the operation, rather than to proceed at hazard. It is a mercy that the slide did not take a greater toll of life than regrettably it did. To one city family left fatherless and to the parents of the other young victim of the tragedy will go the sincere condolences of a shocked community.

Thousand More Students

FOR those who prefer to take their statistics at source, the counting of noses in Greater Victoria schools this week has tallied 1,000 more students this year at the beginning of the autumn term. That is a direct measure of the need of provision that will have to be made for them in classrooms, teachers and all essential services of schooling. The result was predicted, but the fact is ever so much more impressive than any prediction. Greater Victoria's schools are already severely taxed. There are shuffles and shifts going on now to fit in the additional enrollment, dispersed as it is through all school grades. Citizens as a whole will need to understand these facts, and work towards some solution. One may curtail a budget, but not a child.

Interpreting the News

Egypt's Blockade of Israel

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

IT seems certain now that the Suez Canal dispute will be brought before the United Nations before the end of September.

The prospect is that Great Britain will raise the issue in the 11-member Security Council in an attempt to compel Egypt to agree to international control of canal navigation.

But Soviet Russia would be certain to veto any resolution intended to put pressure on Egypt.

Hence it is most likely that the dispute will go before the annual UN General Assembly which meets on Nov. 12.

It seems certain also, however, that a big angle in the question of free navigation through the canal will be suppressed, if possible, by consent of all the parties involved in the dispute.

That angle is Egypt's blockade of shipping bound for Israel.

Great Britain and France say they will not consent to let one man—President Nasser of Egypt—control the canal. Actually, it has been under control of one man, or one country, for more than eight years.

The blockade of shipping for Israel has been in effect since the Arab-Israeli war started in May, 1948.

The war was ended by a series of separate armistices, but no peace treaty ever has been signed.

Egypt has continued the blockade on the ground that it is still at war with Israel. Technically, only war materials are banned. Actually, the blockade affected a wide range of non-strategic materials including foodstuffs.

On Sept. 1, 1951, the Security Council called upon Egypt to end the blockade. It held that the blockade was not justified on the ground of self-defense.

Egypt ignored the UN action. Israel has protested persistently. But none of the great powers has wanted to raise that issue of freedom of navigation, and nothing has been done.

Free passage through the canal, in peacetime and wartime, was guaranteed under the Constantinople convention of 1888.

This convention of treaty, was signed in Constantinople—now Istanbul—by nine countries; Egypt was then under Turkish rule and was not a signatory. Egypt became a British protectorate, and British forces occupied the canal zone.

Despite the Constantinople convention, the canal was barred to enemy shipping by the Allied powers in both world wars.

This was made possible, without formal violation of the convention, because the British navy controlled the approaches to the canal from the Mediterranean and Red Seas. But if any enemy ship had penetrated the approaches, it is unlikely that the British forces would have set it on fire and watched it pass.

Eskimos Stand Guard

By ERIC DOWNTON

KOTZEBUE, Alaska—Despite the billions of dollars being spent on radar screens across Alaska and the Arctic to guard against sneak attacks from Russia over the pole, the Eskimo hunter is still a necessary link in North America's defence system.

Unfavorable climatic conditions and rugged terrain in Alaska prevent radar stations from operating at full efficiency. Modern science is baffled by the way the northern lights, and sunspots can "knock" holes in the radar fence.

Hostile aircraft could slip through those blind spots in the electronic eyes. So in Arctic Alaska, where only a few minutes' flying time separate Soviet Communist Asia from North American territory, the human eye is still very important.

Some of the most remote communities on this continent are linked in a chain of observer groups. Through the radio organization of the Alaskan Ground Observers Corps, they report all aircraft sighted back to the Alaskan air command of the U.S. Air Force.

Hundreds of keen-eyed Eskimos are among the 1,000-strong Alaskan observer corps. Among them is a handful of men and women living on Little Diomed Island, the nearest part of American territory to the Soviet Union.

Fishermen and hunters living on Little Diomed, a small granite speck in the Bering Strait, almost on the international frontier, are only two miles away from Big Diomed Island, in Russian waters. Little Diomed is linked to the mainland by radio.

And so across Alaska's frozen rim, along the Arctic Circle from the Bering Straits and Arctic Ocean to the Canadian border, often in winter temperatures of 50 or 60 degrees below zero, volunteer Eskimo observers—their eyes super-normally sharp from hunting—keep watch on regular round-the-clock schedules.

Air force officials of the Alaskan command organized this observer corps three years ago. The threatening proximity of Soviet territory and Red Air bases give its activities a realism which is perhaps lacking in the activities of similar groups in the U.S.

All Eskimo observers receive a minimum of 36 hours' instruction a year, supplemented by lectures and demonstrations by air force officials who tour the lonely outposts at least once each quarter.

It is not uncommon in some tiny mission school up here in the far Arctic to find a picture of a Russian jet bomber sharing a blackboard with a Biblical quotation, while a group of Eskimo children, parka-clad and eyes bright as buttons, memorize the identification characteristics.

White men enrolled in the corps in the far north include missionaries, trappers, traders, scientists, school teachers, doctors and airline workers.

Heading one group of Eskimos and white men is the Rev. Vincent Joy, chief of the central Alaskan missions. Known as "the flying parson," he travels around his sparsely-inhabited pastorate by piloting his own light plane. He directs training and has helped translate many technical terms into Eskimo.

Besides enrolling as air observers a number of Eskimos have joined the Alaska National Guard. They are issued with rifles and machine guns, uniforms, camouflaged parkas, and trained as scouts and guerrillas.

Men of the First Scout Battalion, Alaska National Guard, which has its base here, carry out systematic patrols of the Bering Sea frontier facing Soviet Siberia.

Letter from London

Britain's Grim Traffic Record

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

THE British Ministry of Transport has issued a grim report on road accidents in Britain. It is a sobering document which contains lessons to be learned everywhere in the world. It is a grim realization that one person in 700 in Britain was either killed or seriously injured in a road accident last year, and that one person in every 200 suffered injury in a road accident—even though only a scratch or a bruise.

Put another way it means that the chance of an average Briton, living an ordinary life, avoiding a road accident of some sort during his life is only about three to one. Road travel is by far the most dangerous way to progress. Considered in terms of an eight-hour flying day an airplane passenger could fly for 200 years before becoming statistically due for an accident involving personal injury.

There are, however, redeeming features about the casualty rate. Although the risk of injury has grown enormously it has decreased substantially in proportion to the number of vehicles on the road. In 1934 there was an average of three people killed and 90 injured for every thousand registered vehicles. This year those figures have dropped to 91 killed and 43 injured. It suggests that education in accident prevention is having some effect.

Some of the incidental revelations concealed in the statistics are illuminating. Those who advocate greater speed restrictions will be disappointed to know that more than two-thirds of all accidents happened in built-up areas subject to the 30 mph maximum speed. Obviously the risk is greater in these areas because of density of population, traffic conditions and so on, but it does seem to indicate that speed restrictions in themselves are not the deterrent to accidents that many people think they are.

Motorcyclists and their passengers are at the top of the "fatality and most seriously injured" list with 28.6 per cent of the total. There are approximately 4,000,000 motorcycles on British roads today. The majority of the drivers are young and they do not need to take a driving test before launching their lethal weapons on the highway. All that is necessary is a provisional licence and the display of "L" plates as a warning to other road users.

The next greatest numbers of killed and seriously injured are to be found amongst the pedestrian group. They account for 27.5 of the total—and right on their heels are other drivers and passengers, private and commercial, who account for 27.4 of the total. Pedal cyclists contribute 16.4 to the harrowing aggregate.

The one thing which emerges is that broadly accidents do not happen—they are caused, and there are usually a number of contributing factors. Comparatively rarely can a single accident be traced to a single cause. On the other hand many an accident is avoided by one sensible person saving someone else from his own folly. Many car drivers, for example, have saved a pedestrian from an early death when the pedestrian defies traffic lights in favor of the vehicle.

Pedestrians in Britain are by far the most ill-disciplined road users. In the past they have not even been theoretically compelled in law to obey traffic lights or the manual signals of constables on point duty. Under the new traffic act coming into operation later this year they have the same legal obligations as other road users, and in some areas the police have let it be known that they intend to prosecute pedestrian offenders. It may do a lot of good.

Another problem is pedal cyclists. As public transport costs have increased so the number of pedal cyclists has gone up. Bicycles are not licensed in this country and cyclists do not have any sort of driving test. The broad argument is that the cyclist is not much of a risk to other road users and that folly will only kill or injure himself. This, however, only underlines what is becoming more and more apparent in matters of road safety—that the greatest need is to protect people from their own folly. The licensing of cyclists might have an important restraining influence by at least ensuring that they are acquainted with ordinary rules of the road.

The question of children and bicycles is a very real one. More than half the children killed on the roads in 1955 were cyclists aged between 10 and 14. It is estimated that there are about 3,000,000 child cyclists and some effort will have to be made in excess of what is done at present to save these children, as well as to instill into car drivers the need to take special precautions when child cyclists are about. It is almost invariably one moment of aberration which leads to disaster.

One other revealing point. The greatest incidence of road casualties occurs in the age group from 20 to 24. Next most dangerous age is 15 to 19. There is an inference that experience has to be acquired the hard way—too often with no chance to profit from it.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

AN elderly friend of mine goes to a great deal of trouble to be kind to children. His consideration of them is unfeeling. No little brat of a boy wrecking the autumn dahlias out in front of my friend's home is ever treated to a shout. Passing his house on the way to and from school four times every day, mobs of little girls are welcome to skip their ropes on his wide cement patio, or even to chalk it up for tick-tack-toe, or whatever they call that most dancy of games nowadays.

Wherever he goes the old boy greets all children gravely and rather ceremoniously, and if it is ever possible for him to do them some small service, such as helping a newsboy stack his papers on handwagon or bicycle, or coming to the financial aid of some small girl who has dropped a bottle of milk on the way home from the store, he makes an occasion of it. He is tireless in his attentions to children. And the smaller the better.

He never had children of his own. I twitted him about his excessive concern for children that often deserved the scantiest attention.

"Well, I'll tell you the truth," he said, a little shamefaced. "I didn't formerly pay much attention to kids. But when I reached 80, I was thinking about my long life and the amount of time and space my life had covered. I was born in 1867. One of my great aunts was still alive, and, I am told, often held me in her arms when I was an infant. She had been born in 1775 and lived to be 92. The American Revolution was just starting when she was born. George Washington was in his prime. The French Revolution hadn't even begun. Robespierre, Danton were hatching their plans when my great-aunt was a girl. Canada had barely been taken over by the British. You see, through my great-aunt, I touched, in a living sense, a time that seems very remote.

"Well, sir, I got the idea that if I could live to be 90, and be remembered by some child who would live to be 80 or 90, I might possibly be remembered in the year 2040 A.D. Imagine that! Someone may remember me in 2040; me, who was held in the arms of someone who remembered George Washington and Robespierre!"

"It makes time seem shorter," I admitted.

"It is the sort of whimsical thought," said my friend, "that entertains old people like me."

Government Toilers

(From The Calgary Albertan)

THE Printed Word, a weekly journal of opinion, has never expressed much love for the more idiotic phases of bureaucracy and in the current issue has come up with a couple of classic examples of lunacy in the federal government.

Item 1 concerns a young lady employed by a crown corporation who was mentioned in the publication several months ago because she had stated she really had no more work to perform than she could do in 10 minutes a day. Since that report, says The Printed Word, the young lady has been given two assistants and is now kept busy for 20 minutes a day, of which 15 minutes are used in thinking of something for the assistants to do. This particular crown corporation, by the way, used to employ a man who made a study of staff redundancy and made a recommendation that some of the help be let go. Following the presentation of his recommendations, he was fired.

Item 2 concerns a government employee who came back from his three weeks' holiday nicely tanned and with a letter from his doctor stating that the employee lost three days of his vacation due to sunstroke and should be entitled, therefore, to an extra three days of rest!

Much food for thought in these two items for the Canadian taxpayer who knows that the only things certain are death and taxes but that at least death doesn't get any worse.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

One's own political party makes a fortnight appeal to the voters. All the others dangle tempting bait before them.

If, as it seems to be doing, the U.S. army intends to court-martial soldiers who are too fat, will there be a Distinguished Dieting Medal for reducing beyond the call of duty?

An old lady told her neighbor, whom she had known for many years, that she so distrusted banks that she preferred to keep her money in a coffee tin.

"But you are losing interest," explained the neighbor.

"Oh, no, I'm not," the old lady insisted. "I'm putting away a little extra just to cover that."

"Talk about the cost of living! You should have seen the milk bill at my house last month!" exclaimed the father of four, thumping the table so emphatically that he almost spilt his dollar martini.

Letters to the Editor

Gratuitous and Public Insult

I am a former resident of Saskatchewan, and according to P. A. Gagliardi, a minister in the Bennett government, I am a rat.

Like many former Saskatchewanians, I came to B.C. to enjoy the moderate climate in my declining years, not seeking refuge and sustenance, like a rat.

Mr. Gagliardi is typical of a certain class of resident in B.C. who decry the brains and brawn coming here from the Prairies who have had a large share in the development of B.C. These people ignore the capital these rats brought with them.

I am sure that these rats from Saskatchewan will not forget on voting day the gratuitous and public insult to the people of Saskatchewan published in the Colonist on Sept. 12 as uttered in un-Christian malice by Mr. Gagliardi.

D. P. MILLER, MD.

Old Age Pensions

I have been reading the election manifestos of the various political parties, and while they seem to be promising "pie in the sky, bye and bye" and various fearful and wonderful things, not one of them has promised to do anything to help those who need it most, namely the old age pensioners.

A few months ago your columns carried various letters and articles on the plight of the old age pensioners. Now the time has come to do or promise something tangible, not a pious hope or one of the candidates.

I wonder if the lady member who once advocated sending the school children out with paint brushes to paint up park railings, etc. will come up with another brilliant idea? What talent we get for $4,000 a year!

WILLIAM RANDALL

Colquitz P.O., B.C.

After reading, on Sunday, a letter addressed to you from Mr. C. Luff on the alleged "double-talk" by CCFers over the proposed increase in old age pensions, there are some facts the public should know.

Contrary to his opinion, I know for a fact that the subject of an increase in old age pensions will be brought up at the first session of the House of Commons in Ottawa.

In correspondence with members of all parties I am assured that this urgent matter is not to be dealt with from a political front.

This has been a CCF platform for many years—now, at least, it seems that the hopes of all old people in Canada will shortly be realized.

W. J. HYDE

111 Medina street, Victoria, B.C.

There is no double talk, as Mr. Luff charges in a letter to the Daily Colonist, in the claim of the CCF that our representatives at Ottawa were responsible for the Liberal party introducing the first old age pension act in Canada.

The facts are that the Conservative party under Mr. Meighen's leadership and the Liberal party under Mr. King were so evenly matched that neither could carry on the government without the support of Mr. Woodsworth, Mr. Heaps and the handful of farmer members from Alberta. On behalf of the group, Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Heaps approached the two heads and offered their support to the one who would promise to bring in old age pensions. Mr. Meighen said he would consider it; but Mr. King promised, in a letter over his own signature, to Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Heaps, to bring in an old age pension act.

This letter, signed by Mr. King, can be seen today at Woodsworth House, the headquarters of the CCF in Ottawa. This group along with other labor and farmer representatives later became the CCF. It is true that Mr. Neill, MP for Alberni, advocated old age pensions, but it was the men who became founders of the CCF who were able to compel the Liberal party, under Mr. King, to enact the measure.

Votemanship

Enough wisely used votes can bring our province from being ruled by two or three "wonderful" men back to being governed by men who do not call just criticism "a smear," nor natural landslides "sabotage."

To defeat the Soerod-Machiavellis who have gambled on a small percentage of voters voting and the votes for one party cancelling those for another, leaving the Soerods on top—although most people will not have voted for them—we must:

1. Vote. If we don't, it will be useless grumbling later.
2. Use our vote wisely by voting for the candidate who has the best chance of beating the Soerods no matter what party he may belong to.

Our Remembrance Day

I would like to thank your correspondent, Gerald S. Rees, for his soul-stirring letter regarding Memorial Day. He is absolutely right in everything he says, and we should not think of changing the date.

It seems to me that anything that tends to remind us of British courage and endurance is being deliberately dropped or changed in some way, so that the generation now growing up, or the next to come, will have no knowledge or understanding of what our people have done and only "American heroism" will be recognized.

I particularly appreciated the little verse your correspondent quoted, as inscribed on a war memorial in a Burmese village. Let us keep Nov. 11 as our Remembrance Day. After all, had it not been for those to whom the day has been dedicated there perhaps would not have been any of our business to disturb.

Metchosin Picnic

I know of no better way to thank so many who helped to make the Metchosin District Farmers' Institute and Happy Valley-Luxton Women's Institute joint annual picnic such a great success other than through the medium of your paper.

In doing so, special thanks go out to Mr. McLeod and Mr. Darling of Victoria Tire Co. Ltd.; to Mr. R. Angus of Angus Marine Ltd.; Mr. Primrose of Palm Dairies; Mr. Walsh of Mc and Mc's; to the manager of Goodwill Boiling Company; T. Eaton Company for slides, merry-go-rounds, etc.; the following service stations for sponsoring the tug-of-war teams: Gordon Service, Glen Lake, Halder Beebe, Langford; Castle's Service, Langford; William's Service (1956 champions); Glen Lake. Last, but not least, all members of both institutes who gave so unsparringly of their services.

W. P. HOBBS, Sr.

Picnic Manager, Metchosin District Farmers' Institute.

Job Well Done

May we of the swim committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce use this column to thank everyone who lent boats and equipment and all those who in any way assisted us in the mass strait swim.

To the very many people outside our organization who kindly helped us to stage a successful swim we extend our gratitude for a job well done.

Replaces 303

This is the Canadian version of the Belgian FN (Fabrique Nationale) rifle being adopted by the Canadian army to replace the old Lee-Enfield 303. First of the 300 calibre automatics will come off production lines shortly. Known as the FN-C1, the Canadian gun has been made to fire more accurately than the Belgian model. Sights and loading methods have been improved. (C.P.)

Names in the News

Boosting Dolly's 'Take' 'Licensed Gold-Digging'

MIAMI, Fla.—Circuit Judge Vincent Giblin said Thursday the Florida Supreme Court "licensed gold-digging" when it reversed his decision to give Dolly Fullman Astor only $75 a week from her estranged husband, John Jacob Astor III.

Dolly's award to $250 a week to "conform reasonably with the mode of living" set by her multi-millionaire playboy husband. In giving Dolly the $75 award last April, Giblin called her "a scheming, conniving girl, motivated by a greed for money."

ASHEVILLE, N.C.—Miss Marie Fish announced her engagement here to James Baas.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—A burning desire to get his fireman's uniform undid Emory Rader, Jr., a volunteer fireman. Rader, 18, admitted turning in five false alarms to get the $3 paid firemen for each run. He wanted the money to buy his uniform.

HOLLYWOOD—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald, recently divorced from millionaire shoe merchant Harry Karl gave birth in a four-pound five-ounce girl Wednesday. Miss McDonald named the girl Tina Marie.

WINNIPEG—Nenad Lhotka, ballet master of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, resigned on Thursday with his wife, Jill Allis, because, he said, Ruthanna Boris, the prima ballerina, had assumed too much authority.

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—

Actor Broderick Crawford lost his balance and fell face down from the rear of a truck on a movie location. He is under treatment in hospital here for painful but not serious injuries.

VANCOUVER—John Duncan McNair, 52, pleaded guilty to five charges of committing burglaries in five schools and was remanded until today. He asked the magistrate also to take into consideration 22 other burglaries in schools.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(U.P.)—Steven McKicker did some fast thinking when he woke up to find his apartment on fire. He jumped into the shower and turned on the water and was rescued by firemen.

LONDON—The American

"Rock n' Roll" movie "Rock Around the Clock" set off a new riot in South London and more than 300 police were called to quell it. Mobs of teen-aged "Teddy Boys" started jeering police while they waited for buses after the last show. They threw bottles and firecrackers. Six were arrested. Seven town councils have banned the movie.

Precautions Delay Park

Precautions taken when the Greater Victoria water board transferred Goldstream property to the city in 1952 are holding up transfer of the property from the city to the province for Class A park development.

The provincial government, Mayor Percy Scourah told city council yesterday, will not take any action on the matter until the city has completed its own investigation.

*The Dickens

Maybe Charles Dickens was gazing into a crystal— or aluminum— ball when he made this prediction a century ago about a strange new metal called aluminum. He wrote:

"What do you think of metal as white as silver, as unalterable as gold, as easily melted as copper, as tough as iron? ... In proportion as the cheap production of aluminum becomes more and more an established fact, the more we shall find it entering into household use—for travelling purposes, for instance, for which its lightness is no small merit."

Very good, Charles— especially that bit about cheap production. That day has arrived, as Alcan's vast production and world sales prove.

ALUMINUM COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD. (ALCAN)

Council voted to set the machinery in motion to transfer the property to the government and instructed the city solicitor to work out a way of removing the reservations.

HAD INSISTED

Water Commissioner Ronald Upward explained to the Greater Victoria water board Wednesday that since the use of the property as a park by Victoria might not have been perpetual, the board had insisted in 1952 on the right to free pipeline and waterworks easements and the right to release excess waters on the land without notice or to withhold Goldstream waters.

If the province takes over, Mr. Upward noted, the land will be dedicated in perpetuity as park, none of it will ever be privately owned and the water board may not need to retain these rights.

Ald. M. H. Mooney alone hung back yesterday from immediate action to give the province the land. He said he favored the park being developed for the people of B.C., the Island and Greater Victoria, but opposed a hasty decision.

Pressed by other aldermen for "complications" that he said he had in mind, Ald. Mooney said that for one thing, "You've got a big election coming up. What if the parties change?"

Tired Visitors Call on Navy

Coming here direct from Banff, Alta., 17 tired newspapermen representing NATO nations went on a whirlwind tour of HMCS Naden and HMC Dockyard yesterday afternoon.

Between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. they visited the Pacific naval lab. They inspected the school of mines, gymnasium, school of music, chapels at Naden, the electrical workshops at the dock.

Later, the newsmen attended a reception and dinner at Naden wardroom. This morning they inspect Royal Roads before driving to Nanaimo for a look at a MacMillan & Blodell mill.

Newsmen are from the United Kingdom, three, Germany, three, Italy, two, France, two, and Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway and Turkey, one each.

Conducting officers are Paul Davies, NATO information officer, five Paris, B. M. Oliver, department of external affairs, Lt. Cmdr J. R. Johnston, department of national defence, and Capt. K. E. Powell, army, all of Ottawa.

Council 'Leans' Toward Comfort

City council authorized the Memorial Arena commission yesterday to spend up to $12,000 to raise the backs of all arena seats, make them wider, renumber them, paint them, and round their edges.

At the last meeting of council, the commission had recommended the cheaper course of doing all the work except raising the backs of the seats.

The commission to reconvene.

Ald. Arthur Dowell held out for the cheaper job yesterday, asking, "How many people are going to be sitting on these seats? You lean forward and watch what's going on."

But the rest of council did not agree with him.

Council instructed the city auditor to try to straighten out confusion about the status of the Crystal Spring bottling works on Richardson.

Mrs. M. A. Hughes wrote to question the validity of an affidavit concerning the continuation of its nonconforming use—its use for purposes not conforming with zoning.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, who is a member of the city council, has been asked to question the validity of an affidavit concerning the continuation of its nonconforming use—its use for purposes not conforming with zoning.

Council also rejected the application of the Crystal Spring bottling works on Richardson.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the interim capital budget committee, reported that "I think we can look forward to a terrific summer of celebrations and business for the city."

The mayor was asked to appoint another city member to the committee bringing city representation to four.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, who is a member of the city council, has been asked to question the validity of an affidavit concerning the continuation of its nonconforming use—its use for purposes not conforming with zoning.

The citizens of Victoria will be grateful to the 1956 council.

meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, calling upon the provincial government to pass legislation providing for a uniform system of setting business licence fees or business taxes.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, public works chairman, said, "At present, there was no uniform system of setting business licence fees or business taxes."

Braves Nip Phils Twice

On Hank's Hot Hitting

Hank Aaron, the 22-year-old colored outfielder whom many experts believe will eventually become one of baseball's great hitters, was the star of stars yesterday as Milwaukee Braves increased their National League lead to two games by taking two extra-inning thrillers from the Philadelphia Phils, 3-2 and 1-3.

Aaron, who started the day leading the league in hitting and led as he marked up his 17th hit, including the 24th home run of his major league career. He also doubled home two runs in the fourth to overtake Philadelphia's early 2-0 lead.

Braves' second place Dodgers had a day-off and Cincinnati's third-place Redlegs stayed alive with a come-from-behind win over Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4.

George Crowe's pinch home run in the seventh, 2-2 tie, gave the Reds a 3-2 lead. The Phils were ahead in their national league image.

That was the stage for a two-run, extra-inning rally, starting when Phil M. McAn, who had hit lablonski singled in the fourth, went to third on the Redlegs' error and scored the winner on Frank Robinson's single.

In the American League, Mickey Vernon, who had been in the lead, was edged out by the New York Yankees, who won 4-3. Vernon's error in the seventh, 3-2 tie, gave the Yankees a 4-3 lead. The Yankees' second place Red Sox won 4-3 from the Boston Braves.

George Crowe's pinch home run in the seventh, 2-2 tie, gave the Reds a 3-2 lead. The Phils were ahead in their national league image.

That was the stage for a two-run, extra-inning rally, starting when Phil M. McAn, who had hit lablonski singled in the fourth, went to third on the Redlegs' error and scored the winner on Frank Robinson's single.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Now that almost everyone has said his bit about the City of Victoria's Stampack, it is time to turn the spotlight on the Stampack's creator, the man who has made it a reality.

That it will be a Victoria club has been a fact since the Stampack's inception. It is a club for the people of Victoria, and it is a club for the people of Victoria.

Vancouver officials who have been reluctant to accept the Stampack as a serious interest have been told that the Stampack is a serious interest.

This is the general nature of a letter that was sent to the Stampack's creator, the man who has made it a reality.

Macdonald and a new law, and that the Stampack is a serious interest.

Player Punches Soccer Referee

Winnipeg Germans defeated Toronto Thistles 4-1, Thursday night in a sudden-death Canadian soccer semi-final game which turned into a fiasco in the last 15 minutes.

The game was a replay as a result of an overtime 5-5 tie Wednesday night. Germans now move into the quarter-finals against Vancouver Harbours on Saturday.

Outside right Jack Morrison of Toronto and forward Alex Morrison of Vancouver were the main players in the game. Morrison, who has been suspended since a first 1-1 draw at Vancouver, scored the first goal for Toronto in the 15th minute.

MAKES TV DEBUT While Graham, 19-year-old footballer, had one of his best games in his career, he was not the only player to make his debut. Ralph "Tiger" Jones, a 19-year-old middle forward, also made his debut at Washington. Graham's goal was the first of the night, but he was not the only player to make his debut. Youthful Toronto Shotmaker Reaches Semis of U.S. Golf

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Toronto's Gerry Magee Thursday reached the semi-finals of the United States amateur golf championships in pursuit of a crown Canada last held nearly a quarter of a century ago.

The surprise young Canadian came from behind to defeat the highly fancied Hillman Robbins and U.S. Walker Cup ace Don Cherry in earlier rounds, then edged the formidable Neil Croonquist of Minneapolis 1 up in Thursday morning's fifth round.

Magee, 21, had a record of 1-1 in the first two rounds, but he was not the only player to make his debut. Ralph "Tiger" Jones, a 19-year-old middle forward, also made his debut at Washington. Graham's goal was the first of the night, but he was not the only player to make his debut.

Stamp Import Tops WIFU Yard-Gainers

REGINA (CP) — Import halfback Earl Linstorf of Calgary Stampede is the leading ground-gainer in the Western Interprovincial Football Union after six games.

The 200-pound Linstorf, who has gained 1,116 yards in six games, is the only player to gain more than 1,000 yards in the league. He has also scored 14 touchdowns and 14 extra points.

Ocean Stays Deep

At least one fact that a layman could grasp worked its way through a maze of highly technical papers and discussions at Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt, yesterday.

Nearly 30 scientists from Canada, Britain and the United States are holding a two-day series of discussions on turbulence in the ocean and lower atmosphere.

These "turbulences" somewhat parallel the "turbulences" in the work of researchers into lower atmosphere turbulence. Dr. William L. Ford, PNL superintendent, said.

The scientists include visitors from defence research board establishments: the Marine Division, the Pacific Oceanographic Group, Nanaimo, and the University of British Columbia.

Advertising Visitors Meet City Executives

Ottawa to Be Told

Send Us Aircraft Carrier And Leave Troops Here

City council joined Chamber of Commerce civic affairs committeemen, shoulder to shoulder yesterday, and led by veteran Col. James Baird demanded of Ottawa:

1. That this west coast base be provided with an aircraft carrier;
2. That the Queen's Own Rifles, rumored due for transfer to be retained here or replaced by another regular army unit;
3. That the 5th Harbor Defence Battery be maintained as an active militia unit and not disbanded, as Ottawa recently instructed.

The chamber group moved first, with resolutions addressed to Mayor Percy Scourrah, municipal reeves, members of Parliament, the B.C. legislature and service groups in an attempt to keep this area from becoming "an isolated, dead-end and regards defence."

TRADITIONS, WORTH
The proud traditions and practical worth of the 5th Harbor Battery should not be lost for ever because of "pressure from way up above," said Col. Baird, long-time commander of the unit. He was unanimous support of the chamber group.

"The Fifth," said Col. Baird, is the oldest field artillery unit in Western Canada, formed in 1861, with a record of participation in four major wars—South African, First and Second World Wars, and Korea.

"If this island were isolated," he continued, "you'd have to take to the hills, because you'd wait a long time before you got help from Ottawa."

He said he had been "connected with the army for 30 years but sometimes I cannot understand army thinking."

Within an hour of the chamber body's decision, city council acted.

'DON'T DISBAND IT'
Council unanimously approved Ald. Geoffrey Edge's motion that Ottawa be asked to switch the battery to "mobile artillery or tanks, or whatever they feel appropriate, but not disband it."

Mayor Scourrah said he had learned HMS Magnificent was being returned by Canada to Britain. The ship was on loan, he said, and would be returned when the new carrier Bonaventure, building in Belfast, was accepted by the Canadian navy.

On this coast, he pointed out, no carrier was stationed and naval airmen cannot get the training they should. He understood Britain would allow Magnificent to remain in Canada for the cost of maintenance and operation.

Council voted unanimously to have Magnificent stationed at Esquimalt.

City Bullnoses Its Merry Way

City council's vocabulary of excited words is slowly growing.

Last year, in hot debate, arterial highways became artillery highways and aerial roads. Last week there were a couple of references to parking meteors.

Yesterday practically the whole council spoke of bulldozing the edges of arena seats.

The aldermen meant bullnosing, or rounding.

'A Few Mistakes, But That's Human' Says Socred Chant

The Social Credit platform is not built on promises but on the sound planks and timbers of accomplishment.

What's more, said Works Minister W. N. Chant at Oak Bay last night, "We're not knackers, we're not boasters and we're not bluffers. We have confidence in the province and in the people of the province."

"You're government in British Columbia puts forward every effort to get good value for the taxpayer's dollar," he said. "There may be a few mistakes, that's human."

NOT DOWN DRAIN
But the tax dollar isn't poured down the drain as previous governments have done, Mr. Chant said.

He listed a number of building projects the government has undertaken to help society, including the letting of a $1,000,000 contract for construction of a public school on the lower mainland.

Kenneth Oliver, Social Credit candidate for Oak Bay, said that the former government four years ago was in a state of chaos.

"They had a hospitalization scheme which was bankrupt, they couldn't collect the premiums. They had a railway that started nowhere and ended nowhere."

Liberal leader Arthur Laing at a commission of this nature is contradicting himself in saying anyone can say anything about the province's future. He said the Social Credit candidate, told an election day that if they do something it's theirs, but if Social Credit does it, it's theirs.

"Then three weeks later this man gets up and howls for a commission of inquiry into the Social Credit case," he continued. "That's nothing new. The Liberals have always said Vancouver police manage that if they do something it's theirs, but if Social Credit does it, it's theirs."

"During the last session Mr. Laing got up in the house and decided this [case of justice] was the Tupper commission. That's nothing new. The Liberals have always said Vancouver police manage that if they do something it's theirs, but if Social Credit does it, it's theirs."

"Laing at that time said that the same thing it's theirs."

Opposition speaks evil. Tisdale tells meeting.

Opposition candidates claim the of speaking evil of dignitaries will restore dignity to the legislature, said Mr. Tisdale.

He said Victoria Liberal MP Sam McLean, Social Credit MP Frank Fairley has been quoted as saying the federal government.

He referred to a remark by the rival CCFer Frank Snowsall who said all of the cost of the Patricia Highway when actually the provincial government paid 100 per cent.

He said the CCFer had chosen the CCF to form a government in 1952 and 1953.

"There seems to be no shame in Mr. Tisdale."

Around the Island

Logger Struck By Falling Log Badly Injured

CAMPBELL RIVER—Logger Ole Boeque, about 48, struck by a falling log at Tahsis Logging Company's Gold River operations, was given emergency treatment for severe back injuries last night.

Hi Airlines plane Gary Borgford who brought the injured man here, flew the patient on to Vancouver where an ambulance was waiting to rush Boeque to hospital.

NANAIMO—Saturday night bus service will continue to the Departure Bay area on a trial basis.

Petitions were filed with council when Vancouver Island Coach Lines announced that it planned withdrawing the service.

The company has announced that service will be continued for a two-month trial period and public support will determine whether it will be main.

NANAIMO—Ladysmith school districts request that the present boundary line south of Ladysmith be altered was turned down by Nanaimo school trustees Wednesday night as being impractical.

But school inspector Claude Campbell and trustee I. H. Thorpe were given the task of looking further into the matter.

Ladysmith asked for consideration of the proposed change, explaining that the distance some children have to travel to school was too great.

Moving the line described by Nanaimo school board secretary Miss Ruth Brown as a "major change" would cost Nanaimo school district some $200,000 in assessment values.

PORT ALBERT—A water main was opened Thursday night to fill this city's new 3,000,000-gallon reservoir final project in a program to increase water storage.

A two-day "blitz" canvass of the residential sections of Greater Victoria, a new departure for Community Chest, was announced yesterday as part of the 1956 campaign.

More than 1,000 canvassers are needed for the 48-hour "blitz," to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 16 and 17, under co-chairmanship of Mrs. A. R. Roberts and Mrs. Evelyn Forrest.

In past years, the residential canvasser will visit but printed lists have started in the first few days of October and continued until the end of the month. Officials hope the two-day campaign will result in as few callbacks as possible.

B.C. Wrapped Gift For Big Business?

Private monopoly over British Columbia's power and gas resources is costing the people of the province money, Pat Thomas, Oak Bay CCF candidate, said at his first election meeting last night.

Is this province to be handed over as a wrapped gift to the private monopoly interests of the three large companies now monopolizing a stranglehold on electricity and natural gas production in B.C.?

"We believe that public power is a necessity for the well-being of the people," he said. "The B.C. Electric buys some of the North and South American power from the B.C. Power Board, who did here about 10 times the price paid in England and a resident here of the B.C. Electric paid for the B.C. Electric power for a period of 10 years, the cost of the B.C. Electric power was 10 cents per kilowatt-hour, while in England a similar power cost 2 1/2 cents per kilowatt-hour, and in the United States it was 3 1/2 cents per kilowatt-hour."

Mr. Thomas said last night he had "had a bad case" in yesterday's races and was plagued by "flukey" winds.

He wound up in third place with 31 1/2 points, only 10 points behind the leader, Ted Hood of Marble Head, Mass. in second place is Gilbert T. Gray of New Orleans, with 33 1/2 points.

"It was very close," said Mr. Thomas. "Any one of us could win."

CRUCIAL RACES
The championship will be decided in two final races today. Mr. Baess and his two-man Seattle crew represent the Pacific International Yachting Association which extends to San Francisco and takes in the whole Pacific Northwest.

Eight skippers are competing, representing zones of North America which completed eliminations recently. All are sailing Blanchard class craft.

City Yachtsman Still in Running

Victoria dropped back slightly in races yesterday at Seattle for the championship of North America, but Jorgan Baess of Royal Victoria Yacht Club still has a good chance of winning.

Prove Statement And Win Hat Mr. Oliver—Gibbs

P. A. Gibbs, the Oak Bay Liberal candidate, may have to buy a hat for his Socred opponent, Kenneth Oliver—if Mr. Oliver can prove a statement he made last week.

Saying that Mr. Oliver was "either ignorant of the facts or deliberately misleading the electorate," Mr. Gibbs challenged him on a report of a speech.

From a newspaper clipping Mr. Gibbs read: "Mr. Oliver said proceeds of the 2 per cent portion of the sales tax earmarked for hospital costs are not quite enough to cover hospital costs."

I challenge that word "barely," said Mr. Gibbs. "If he can show me where the sales tax goes for hospital costs, I will buy him a hat."

REDUCE TAXES
Mr. Gibbs said the Liberals would get taxes reduced "as it is obvious they can be"; reduce sales tax by 1 per cent without affecting the hospital scheme, and increase tax exemptions on meals.

A royal commission would be set up immediately to study the Study Somers case, he added.

Nanaimo Bingo Flops

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Kinmen Club may lose something like $600 through their final bingo game held at the Civic Arena here Wednesday night. Only 1,500 people attended of an expected 3,000. Top prize of $2,000 was shared by four people, Bill Oulie, Mrs. Violet Antrobus, Mrs. Arthur Clark and Lawrence Goleisch. Prizes totalled $3,600.

This is the second bingo game here in only a few weeks which has failed to pull in crowds and money. The Hospital bingo last month made only $200 after the Civic Arena had foregone its rental.

Socreds' Offer To Match Aid May Help City on Bridge Cost

"Federal aid is federal aid no matter what federal department it comes from," Mayor Percy Scourrah said yesterday with regard to the new provincial promise to match any federal bid in building the Point Ellice Bridge.

Works Minister W. N. Chant

said Wednesday night at the Social Credit election meeting in the Royal Theatre that the provincial government would match anything the federal government would put up to help build that bridge.

Fabrics made to look and feel almost like the real thing have been a great vogue with grownups for the past few seasons. Now they have entered the small fry group and are wonderfully warm and luxurious for their active young loves at school or at play.

The coat pictured looks and feels like fur and weighs less than three pounds. It has a three-button closing, cuffed pockets and sleeves and a wide collar. If caught in the rain it can be hung up to dry and will be as good as new.

Salt Spring IODE Resumes Activities

GANGES Following the summer vacation the H.M.S. Ganges Chapter IODE met recently in the Board Room of the Mahon Hall with Mrs. V. C. Best presiding.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $204.10. It was announced that the summer monthly stalls had realized $184.17 and that one more stall would be held on Oct. 6. Mrs. H. C. Giesgen took over the position of treasurer, replacing Mrs. Cora Faine who has resigned.

The educational secretary, Mrs. Joyce Parsons, reported having presented the Chapter's $30 scholarship to Marie Bennett at the High School graduation.

The Chapter voted $10 to purchase a new set of uniforms for the IODE. The uniforms will be used in the future.

A letter was read from Headquarters IODE to be held on Nov. 8 at the work of the International relations from its beginning in 1902, showing how it has grown and how it has helped the welfare of the world. It was decided to send a letter to the IODE in Nigeria and Jamaica and to send a letter to the IODE in the U.S.A. for the annual children's fund.

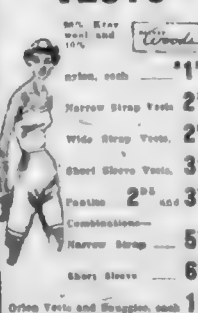

Tea was served by Mrs. W. M. Moad and Miss Mary Lees.

What's Cooking!

Bakes Batch of Bread To Help Cure 'Blues'

We have a very temperamental neighbor down the street who like most of us has her bad days. Unlike most of us she has a cure.

No, it isn't the purchase of a new hat—she bakes a batch of bread. She gets great satisfaction in turning out golden crusted loaves, rolls as light as a feather of any one of the endless variety of sweet breads. Her claim is that the very smell of fresh baked bread is cheering to say nothing of the satisfaction derived from a baking job well done. "After sampling her hot rolls (recipe follows) I'm inclined to agree with her."

But first, since it is by no means everyone who has the time or the space to bake their own bread, may we have a word about the ready-made variety?

As every school child knows, bread is called the Staff of Life and has been valued from time immemorial all the world over. Somewhere I read that bread was first baked in Egypt in the year 3500 B.C.—makes one feel old, doesn't it? Be that as it may, in my latest edition of Canada's Food Rules it is claimed a minimum amount of four slices each day is required. May I repeat, that is the minimum and for the comfort of my diet conscious readers four slices supply you with approximately 300 calories.

Several months ago when first I came to live here the great number of bake-shops, mostly very good ones, made a great impression. Every possible kind of bread seems available from the 100% health bread to the comparatively recent enriched white variety. So may I suggest, when you are packing those all-important lunches we have talked so much about, that you ring the changes constantly on the kind of bread used?

By the way, for the sake of those living alone or for couples, a loaf of bread lasts too long sometimes. To prevent drying, try wrapping it in a plastic bag or in a paper bag.

Someone has just passed my desk and asked what is meant by enriched bread. Well, if the bread is wrapped the label will usually tell you what you are buying but perhaps a brief explanation is advisable. There are still a great many people who prefer the color and texture of white bread so a few years ago the Canadian government, in co-operation with bakers across Canada, set standards for the nutritional improvement of white flour and bread. Three B vitamins and the mineral iron, are added to white flour and hence it is called "enriched." If the same term is applied to bread it is essential that it be made from this flour. While the nutritive value has therefore been increased the flavor and color of the bread remain the same.

Here is the recipe already referred to . . .

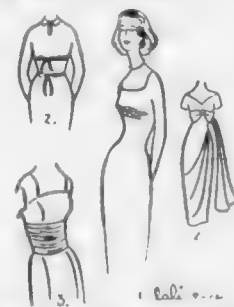

BASIC SWEET DOUGH

Eight cups sifted enriched, all-purpose flour 2½ cups warm water ¼ cup sugar 2 packages fast rising dry yeast 2 teaspoons salt 4 tablespoons soft shortening 2 eggs Put sifted flour into large mixing bowl, measure it by putting it after sifting into cup with a table-spoon and do not pack then level off with knife. Heat the water to lukewarm and pour ½ cup into measuring cup. Add 2 teaspoons sugar and stir until dissolved. Sprinkle yeast into this mixture and leave to stand 20 minutes then stir. To remain in warm water in saucepan add the salt and half cup of sugar and mix well.

Add the softened shortening or butter to saucepan (not melted, just soft). Beat two eggs in a small bowl and add them, along with dissolved yeast, to lukewarm liquid in saucepan. Make a well in flour pour in liquid, just soft. Beat two eggs in a small bowl and add them, along with dissolved yeast, to lukewarm liquid in saucepan. Make a well in flour pour in liquid, just soft.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

YOUR EMPIRE. The dominant trend in dresses proves to be the Empire, also called "Edwardian" and "1912." By any name, the look's the same—a sheath with belt underlining the bosom, gently molded midriff, softly slim skirt—romantic and feminine as can be. The version you wear is what makes the fashion becoming, too.

Belt placement is the main key. High, draped sashes (figure 1) are perfect for proportioned figures. Two belts (fig. 2), one beneath bosom and one at waistline, best suit very tall and thin. As fill for spindly waists, cummerbunds (fig. 3) work fine.

What about heavier figures? Bowed belts, draped skirts and floating panels (fig. 4) somewhat trim curves. But not to the extent of a diet!

Women Underestimate Their Own Ability

TORONTO (CP)—Many women who take the first job that is offered after finishing high school, have chosen to do a 12-month course to become medical-record librarians, a new profession, says Miss Davey.

When they reach their 30s, they begin to realize that maybe they won't ever marry and perhaps there is a more interesting career by which they could earn a living," says Miss Klein.

Some of the applicants are married women who are suddenly faced with having to earn a living when their husbands die. "One older woman had done factory work all her life but began to wonder if there wasn't something else she could do. We gave her aptitude tests and found she was artistic and clever with her hands and now she is a florist," says Miss Klein.

The counsellors, including two psychologists, devote an average of eight hour-long interviews to each applicant and usually give aptitude tests after four interviews. They include intelligence tests and questions to discover general interests.

Says Mrs. Davey: "Most of the girls are reassured to find they have done better than they hoped. Sometimes we have to try to bring a girl down to earth if she wants to do something for which she really isn't capable," she adds.

But those cases are few and remind our job is to assist a girl that she could try a job which will have a stimulating effect and make her feel she is serving a useful purpose," she says.

Most of the girls know nothing of the scholarships and bursaries which could help them through college or professional training. Mrs. Davey helps them plan budgets for higher education if they show sufficient ability. I keep a list of new careers and many girls who would find

Ex-Socred's Attack on Premier Stirs Up Heated Controversy

Claim of a former Social Credit official that Premier Mr. Ashmead had been involved in a scandal, stirred up a heated controversy.

The former Social Credit official, Mr. Ashmead, was accused of having been involved in a scandal involving the use of public funds.

Mr. Ashmead's attack on the Premier was met with a strong response from the Premier's office.

The Premier's office stated that the Premier had been completely innocent of the charges.

LET'S FACE FACTS NOW!

More and Better Roads Can Be Built For Your Tax Dollar

Despite the present feverish speculation activity, the government is actually spending a smaller percentage of its swollen tax dollars on highway construction than most other Canadian provinces.

Last year the Socred government actually spent less per capita on roads and related work, than did the last Liberal administration in the year 1952-1953.

What the present government is spending is producing only a spotty, disconnected program—extremely wasteful of men, machines and materials. Loss of 8 top departmental engineers and the desire of the government to appear to be building roads everywhere, has resulted in unimproved, haphazard construction. No major highway has been completed in this province since the John Hart and Hope-Princeton Highways, which were constructed by previous administrations.

- We will:
- give true road value for car and truck taxes.
 - build roads that are competently engineered and let by competitive contract only.
 - have priorities and dates for completion set by an independent Highway Commission.

The savings made by this method of operation will mean more and better roads, even though we are pledged to cut all car licenses to $10.

OUR CANDIDATE FOR OAK BAY

Archie GIBBS

Dear Neighbour:

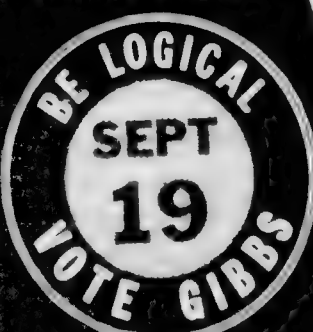

It is my firm conviction that it is a citizen's duty to place at the disposal of his community any special talents he may possess. As a former councillor and Reeve of Oak Bay and as your M.L.A. since 1952 I can claim a comprehensive knowledge of public affairs, with the experience and ability to fight for your interests through sound, planned legislation, while maintaining the dignity and integrity essential as your representative.

Should you re-elect me September 19th, the following are among the reforms I shall unceasingly work for:

1. Reduction of taxes—with immediate 1% cut in Sales Tax
2. A larger share of Provincial revenues allocated for Municipal grants.
3. Maintenance of our educational system at highest levels.
4. Protection of our natural resources: forest, fisheries and power.
5. Restoration of a full time Labour Relations Board.
6. Creation of a Youth Affairs Department under the jurisdiction of one of the cabinet ministers.
7. Active development of the Tourist Industry with full recognition of fish and game potentialities.
8. Creation of a non-political Highways Construction Advisory Board.

In respectfully soliciting your vote, I assure you I will work to attain those objectives, and will support the forward looking program of the Party which I represent.

Sincerely,
Archie GIBBS.

Inquest In Fall Today

THE INQUEST into the death of a young man who was found today at the foot of a cliff at Huxley Island, B.C., will be held today at the coroner's court at the Huxley Hotel.

The inquest will be held at 10 o'clock today and will be presided over by the coroner, Mr. J. H. McLeod. The jury will be sworn at 11 o'clock.

The body of the young man was found at the foot of a cliff at Huxley Island, B.C., on the morning of September 8. The body was found by a fisherman who was out on the island.

You can't go ALL-OUT
If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. They give an inch and then make physical stress water in ice—harder to regain. Try a time living. Inward reaction, outward relaxation of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess waste and water remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that tired-out, heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

Pickets Protest Foreign Crew

CAMPBELL RIVER.—Picket lines will be thrown out at 8 a.m. today unless a dispute is settled between the Seafarers' International Union and vessel operators.

Picketing, originally scheduled for today, was postponed until the morning of September 10.

The union has been threatening action for more than a week as a protest over the use of a foreign non-union crew for a ship engaged in coastwise traffic.

The ship, which made its monthly voyage from Campbell River to Seattle, was scheduled to leave today.

Some Gains Shown

NEW YORK (AP)—A promising

market was shown in the stock market today.

The gains ran as much as four points among pivotal stocks.

The losses were kept generally within the range of a point.

There was a slow comeback

among the early leaders and some were at their best of the day at the close.

Notably among these was heavily traded Royal Dutch which drew big interest because of Wall

Street reports that a proposal to split the stock would be made at its directors' meeting Monday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 60 cents to $131.10.

Among Canadian issues on the

New York stock exchange, Detlers Seagram was down 1/4 and International Nickel up 1/4.

Shawinigan was up 1/4 and

Great Western Oil was down

1/16 among Canadian stocks listed on the American stock exchange.

Seventh Setback

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market suffered its seventh straight setback Thursday as the major indices registered their low mark in three months.

As the session progressed, the market edged down and closed at its lowest point since June 14.

The Toronto 300 index ended at

1,070.10, down 10.10 points from

1,080.20.

Observers said the lower trend was mainly due to the Suez Canal situation which kept buyers on the sidelines in a wait and see attitude.

Papers, steel, refining oils and the financial institutions suffered price changes ranging to 3/16 points and the biggest changes were mostly on the downside.

Coppers drew more-than-usual interest in mining issues. Nor-anda lost 1 1/2 points among the senior base metals. Other issues lost fractional ground.

Calvin and Canada Southern

Pete featured western oils with

30-cent losses. Cree and Del Rio were down 20 cents and Triad 18 cents. Husky lost one-half while Royalite gained three-eighths.

Close Lower Again

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed lower again Thursday in moderate trading. However, the decline was not as sharp

as in the previous two sessions and there was a sprinkling of fractional gains throughout the industrial list.

Donohue and Powell River each lost a point in the papers while

Consolidated and Great Lakes improved 1/4. Base metals moved lower, led by Noranda with a one-point loss. In the steel Atlas dipped 1/4.

Refining oils were mixed. Nova Scotia and Montreal each added

1/16 in the banks.

Beverages were steady.

Miners closed firmly lower in a 10-cent range.

Noise Measure Stumps Counsel

VANCOUVER (CP)—It is impossible to draft an antinuclear law that will bring an automatic conviction because there is no satisfactory basis for measuring the nuclear corporation counsel Russell

Baker said Thursday.

He was instructed to find ways to make a noise measure by which law passed in 1953 by the British Parliament could be applied to effectiveness.

Prairie Investment Broker On $250,000 Theft Charge

EDMONTON (BUP) — That he and his firm stole from the city of Edmonton $140,000 between May 10 and July 27, 1957, was the charge against a former investment broker, Carl A. MacDonald, who was attempting to raise $20,000 bail money, following his arrest Wednesday on three charges of theft of more than $250,000.

MacDonald's arrest followed an investigation by the Edmonton Police Department, which was led by Det. J. A. MacDonald and Det. J. A. MacDonald.

MacDonald is charged with the theft by him and his company of $140,000 in Ontario bonds and $20,000 in Metropolitan Commission of Toronto Bonds, the property of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

The registration of the firm and the assets were frozen by the Provincial Public Utilities Commission after the Attorney General's department appointed auditors to determine the exact position of MacDonald's firm.

Georgia Votes For Talmage

NEW YORK (CP) — Herman F. Talmage, campaigning on a platform of States' rights and segregation, easily won the Democratic nomination to a Senate seat in Georgia, defeating a coalition of the solid Democratic deep-south and state.

Talmage, a 45-year-old former governor of the state, put a big margin over his opponent, W. E. Thompson, in old political foe.

PARKVILLE — Families of the community park, and picnic area, were in heavy attendance for the past few months.

Annual meeting of the society has been set for Oct. 26.

TELEVISION HISTORY

ANNOUNCES IN TV for 1957

9 Major Advances

in quality, style, performance, value, by RCA Victor, world leader in television — Choice of portables...
swivels...rollarounds...table models...consoles...lowboys — Prices lowest in RCA Victor history!

NEW EXTRA-POWERFUL RECEPTION

Even in fringe or problem areas RCA Victor's new powerful chassis boosts weak signals, shades down strong ones, insures correct brightness and easy-viewing contrast.

NEW "HIGH-SHARP-AND-EASY" TUNING

Lets you tune standing up, quickly, easily and accurately, with picture always in view. Turn one knob and there's your channel. On some models, channel number shows in window on top of set, others give you illuminated channel indicator on front, or on dial.

NEW TWO GREAT SOUND SYSTEMS

Room-filling 3-speaker "Panoramic Sound" on Deluxe models, rich, realistic, balanced Fidelity Sound on others. Designed by the world's greatest sound engineers, each is a precise balance of amplifier, speaker and cabinet that recreates the entire range of sound transmitted.

NEW SHAPES, SIZES, CONVENIENCE

TV smaller than some portable radios... TV you can roll from room to room... Swivel TV that lets you direct picture and sound in any direction... Screen sizes from 8 1/2 in. to larger-than-life 24 in. Whatever you want in TV, your RCA Victor dealer has it!

NEW CLEAN, UNCLUTTERED STYLING

From the tiny "Personal" portable to the long, luxurious lowboys, all RCA Victor TV models are expertly styled to blend with every decor. Finishes range from solidwood woods to exotic two-tone blends.

NEW SUPER-SENSITIVE CASCODE TUNER

Provides greater selectivity... gives maximum amplification of incoming signals with minimum interference. Standard on all models except portables.

Unique Stamp

VANCOUVER (C.P.P.) —

Marshall W. L. Scott of Ontario said Thursday the federal government will issue the world's first fire prevention stamp on Oct. 9 during Fire Prevention Week.

Mr. Scott, addressing a luncheon meeting, said the stamp in red and black will show a house burning and will carry a warning slogan.

Mr. Scott said the stamp will be issued by the Canadian Post Office.

Interested in any of them. There are no opposition parties. They lost their leadership years ago.

"I'll repeat my remarks when George Gregory repeats his," Mr. Sommers said. Mr. Gregory is a Victoria Liberal MLA.

"We must make it save B.C. from the worst mismanagement," he said.

"You don't have to have money of your own to build a pulp mill," he said. "You just have to have a forest management licence and a friend somewhere in the government."

Mr. Sommers said the government is not interested in the pulp industry.

'Sam' Sets Things Right

"Sam McGrady" got things straightened out in city police court yesterday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft.

"Sam," really Florence Scraggs, 21-year-old Duncan girl, told magistrate Henry Hall she had made a mistake Wednesday when she elected trial before a county court judge. She meant she wanted to appear before the magistrate, she said.

The girl was remanded to Monday for police court trial. She is charged with stealing $262 from Leonard Wilson, Dunsmuir, who told police he only knew her by the name "Sam McGrady." She was charged under that name.

Taxi driver John Lauder was fined $40 for careless driving and lost his licence although he pleaded driving was his livelihood.

Lauder, 1460 Oliver, was involved in a collision Sept. 4. He has a previous driving record and Magistrate Hall cut him short when he asked that his licence not be suspended.

Werner Bowries, 229 Government, paid $25 for driving without a licence and Daniel G. Kelway, 18, 55 Lotus, was fined $15 for failing to give way to a pedestrian at a cross walk.

Arthur William Booth, 4030 Braefoot, who ran away from an accident he was involved in Aug. 30, was fined a total of $75 and had his licence suspended in Spanish police court.

Booth pleaded guilty to careless driving and failing to stop at the scene of an accident. He hit a car, while travelling on the wrong side of Glamford and then drove away because, police said he told them, he "had been drinking and lost his nerve."

A man who passed another vehicle in a playground zone where some 100 children were playing close by, was fined $35.

Fred Borden, 2709 Seaview, had pleaded not guilty to careless driving but was found guilty by Magistrate Hall. Police said he speeded through a playground zone on Reynolds Road and a little later was clocked at 45.

Harold Donald Ferguson, 3810 Rowland, pleaded guilty to careless driving—admitting being on the wrong side of Tillicum Road Sept. 1 and striking a car. He was fined $40 and restricted to driving for business purposes for two months.

Fred Marconi, 3555 Austin Avenue, pleaded guilty to having repairs done to his Quadra Street service station without a permit from the city. He was fined $20.

In Colwood RCMP court, Cecil T. Reeve, 1312 Gladstone, was fined $20 and $5 costs for speeding "well over 60 miles an hour" in a 50-mile zone in View Royal.

Professor Says:

Broadcasters Doing Just Fine, Thanks

MONTREAL (CP) — A McGill University professor said Thursday CBC broadcasting regulations do not in any way hamper the private broadcasters from "leading a full, rich commercial life."

"They're doing quite well, thank you," said Prof. F. R. Scott, spokesman before the Fowler royal commission on broadcasting on behalf of the Canadian Association of University Teachers. The development of a national broadcasting policy is sound and his association agrees with it. If private groups were allowed to develop their own country-wide networks they would undermine the CBC's national service.

Malay Laying Creates Furore

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The British-owned newspaper Straits Times says a hen has laid an egg bearing the inscription "Mohammed" in classical Malay. The newspaper says hundreds of Malays have flocked to a village near Ipoh, northern Malaysia, to see the egg, which many of them consider to be a holy object.
